

PROFESSIONAL DIRECTORY.

LAWYERS.

J. A. SAMPSELL.

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Ross—Guthrie, Harrison, and Second street. Practice in all courts.

GEORGE PRICE,

GENERAL AND LAND ATTORNEY.

Twenty Years Experience Satisfaction Guaranteed and Efficient Service.

Informational General Land Offices, Oklahoma Territory.

T. S. JONES & SON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.
West of Capitol National Bank Building.

A. G. C. Ritter, John H. Conner.

BIERER & COTTERAL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Joseph Wootz, C. G. Horner.

WEISBY & HORNOR,

ATTORNEYS,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Brown—Hall, First Capitol National Bank.

VOLNEY MOOGATT,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Office over "The Blue" Chinese.

WILLIAM BLINCOE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.
Older Building.

H. D. TODD,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.
Rail road lawyer of U. S. and other.

LAW & HOUSTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.

G. S. CUNNINGHAM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Guthrie, Oklahoma.

HARTR S. CUNNINGHAM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
114 North First St., Guthrie, Ok.

W. M. D. SMITH & CO.,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Porto—Oklahoma.
Fully associated with me in all land cases. S. D. Becker, business.

DENTISTS.

DR. PEOPLES,

DENTIST.

OFFICE—First St. and Oklahoma Ave.

RESIDENCE—Second St. and Noble Ave.

W. E. FURROW,

DENTIST
Second and Oklahoma Avenue,
Commercial Bank Building, Room 35. Residence corner of Elm and Harrison.

PHYSICIANS.

D. D. STEVENS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
McEllinor's Drug Store Second St.

OUR EYES.

IN HEALTH AND DISEASE.

E. S. Donnelly, Druggist

110 OKLAHOMA AVE., GUTHRIE, O. T.
Begs to announce that he has just completed arrangements whereby he has secured the exclusive right for the use of the celebrated

AQUA CRYSTAL

SPECTACLES AND EYEGLASSES

to suit all degrees of vision and at prices to suit all purses.

The eyes carefully tested free of charge and correct lenses accurately fitted.

Courthouse Barber Shop

If you want a first-class Shave or Hair Cut call and see us.

C. T. VINSON, Proprietor.

W. H. BRUNNER,
HORSE - SHOER

—AND—
Carriage Work.

Second St. and Cleveland Ave.

Large of

THE PASSING SHOW

UNUSUAL HAPPENINGS OF RECENT OCCURRENCE

A NOVEL SCENE ON THE BANKS OF THE PASSAIC.

Chasin Higgins appears in Novel Adventure in New Jersey—The Thrilling Adventure of a Convict Party in the Rocky Mountains.

H. B. ENTHABITANTS of the left banks of the Passaic river in the vicinity of Tuxedo, N. Y., were treated to a novel scene. A man named Higgins lives in Patterson, N. J., was driving every warm day along the bank of the river, when it occurred to him that it would be very comfortable to take a swim. So Higgins undressed himself, placed his clothing in the wagon and dove in Higgins' horse galloped away in the meantime, which Higgins came out the house being greatly startled at the appearance of Higgins in a condition of nudity, dashed down the road at a rapid pace, taking Higgins' clothes with him. It was very evident for John Higgins, because it was broad daylight, and people were passing haw-haw and forward along the road, and real Higgins and nothing left but a gunmetal and small metal bandage about his toe. But arranging that bandage so that it would cover as much space as possible, and taking the handle from the umbrella, he inserted his head in it fixed the apex of it around his waist and charged down the turnpike for Patterson, followed like a dancing Indian, and waved his arms and legs in convulsive spasms before he reached home, where he was met by six or ten thousand boys Higgins wants to sell his horse. He is now

MADGE VINTON POLLARD.

The Young Woman Who Is the Most Talked of Person of the Day.

Madge Vinton Pollard, the young woman who has brought out for break of promise against Representative Thompson of Kentucky, is perfectly well known throughout the country. She has been in the background ever since her parents were separated. She located, however, in an out-of-the-way suburb of Washington and interested many persons. Miss Pollard is described as rather tall and slender, with long hair. She was dressed in a style of dress that she had never seen before. Her black hair was parted in the middle and brushed plainly back and combed in front of the neck. There was no sign of a ring, and her hands were elegantly manicured and polished. She is said to be about five feet four inches tall, and weighed about one hundred and twenty-five pounds. She is said to be very good-looking, and is described as having a very pleasant expression.

Miss Pollard was much adverse to an interview. This, she said, was by the advice of her lawyers, and she had nothing to add to what was in the paper just filed in the suit. She would not even dare to publication any of the stories about her that are so diametrically opposed. "I would rather you would not say anything at all about me. My position is public enough without making any noise. I am not by any means the sort of a woman I have been described. When I go on the stand I shall make people will charge that I am a liar, and my position in the whole affair is in a care to make any formal statement now. I will have plenty to say at the trial."

A Youthful Firebug.

Small fires have raged at Green castle Inn, to such an extent during the past two weeks that there has been great uneasiness among the people for a conflagration break out in which case, owing to the extreme dryness of everything, the loss would be terrible. Last week three or four barns were burned and this week the fire department was called out as many as three times in one day to fight the fires originating in stables. That the fires always made their first appearance in stables and about the stable place in each case, caused the officers to suspect that the blame must rest with the work of fire bugs. So they went quickly to work to locate and capture the miscreants. As a result of their labors the seven-year-old son of Daniel Cox was arrested and lodged in jail charged with the crime. Young Cox was soon coming out of the stable shortly before the blaze was discovered, it is said, and for this reason it is believed he had a hand in the incendiarism. Others are under surveillance, and the others think they will unearth a systematic scheme to burn the barns of certain parties in various parts of the town. In the meantime the damage costs high, as no property owner feels safe.

THE LATEST THING IN GENTLEMEN'S ATTIRE.

At a stareboard of passengers rolling from Louisville, Ky., to Kansas City met with a thrilling accident. The party consisted of Henry Bass, John J. Bush, E. Powers and L. H. Powers of Goldens, S. T. Niles of Boudoir, James H. Davis, Timmo, Beauchamp, and a minor from Kansas City—there being nine persons altogether, including the driver. As they were proceeding on a dark night over the rough mountain road, they came to a point seven miles to Cisco, Mo., where the roadway was barely wide enough for the coach to pass. Suddenly the coach slipped and tumbled over the steep precipice down into the deep ravine about forty feet below, the vehicle rolling three times and half in the descent striking against the projecting rocks in its downward course, and landing in the stream bottom up. The three gentlemen on the outside—Messrs. Bush and Davis and the driver—jumped from the coach when it began rolling down the bank, and went tumbling down the bank, and went tumbling down the cause after it, all receiving some bruises, but not being seriously injured. Strange to say, the passengers in the coach, although sustaining more or less injury, were not dragged easily hurt. One of the four horses was mortally wounded, and had to be shot to end his suffering. The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock in the morning. The driver rose to fame.

A Youthful Firebug.

Small fires have raged at Green castle Inn, to such an extent during the past two weeks that there has been great uneasiness among the people for a conflagration break out in which case, owing to the extreme dryness of everything, the loss would be terrible. Last week three or four barns were burned and this week the fire department was called out as many as three times in one day to fight the fires originating in stables. That the fires always made their first appearance in stables and about the stable place in each case, caused the officers to suspect that the blame must rest with the work of fire bugs. So they went quickly to work to locate and capture the miscreants. As a result of their labors the seven-year-old son of Daniel Cox was arrested and lodged in jail charged with the crime. Young Cox was soon coming out of the stable shortly before the blaze was discovered, it is said, and for this reason it is believed he had a hand in the incendiarism. Others are under surveillance, and the others think they will unearth a systematic scheme to burn the barns of certain parties in various parts of the town. In the meantime the damage costs high, as no property owner feels safe.

THE LATEST THING IN GENTLEMEN'S ATTIRE.

At a stareboard of passengers rolling from Louisville, Ky., to Kansas City met with a thrilling accident. The party consisted of Henry Bass, John J. Bush, E. Powers and L. H. Powers of Goldens, S. T. Niles of Boudoir, James H. Davis, Timmo, Beauchamp, and a minor from Kansas City—there being nine persons altogether, including the driver. As they were proceeding on a dark night over the rough mountain road, they came to a point seven miles to Cisco, Mo., where the roadway was barely wide enough for the coach to pass. Suddenly the coach slipped and tumbled over the steep precipice down into the deep ravine about forty feet below, the vehicle rolling three times and half in the descent striking against the projecting rocks in its downward course, and landing in the stream bottom up. The three gentlemen on the outside—Messrs. Bush and Davis and the driver—jumped from the coach when it began rolling down the bank, and went tumbling down the bank, and went tumbling down the cause after it, all receiving some bruises, but not being seriously injured. Strange to say, the passengers in the coach, although sustaining more or less injury, were not dragged easily hurt. One of the four horses was mortally wounded, and had to be shot to end his suffering. The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock in the morning. The driver rose to fame.

A Youthful Firebug.

Small fires have raged at Green castle Inn, to such an extent during the past two weeks that there has been great uneasiness among the people for a conflagration break out in which case, owing to the extreme dryness of everything, the loss would be terrible. Last week three or four barns were burned and this week the fire department was called out as many as three times in one day to fight the fires originating in stables. That the fires always made their first appearance in stables and about the stable place in each case, caused the officers to suspect that the blame must rest with the work of fire bugs. So they went quickly to work to locate and capture the miscreants. As a result of their labors the seven-year-old son of Daniel Cox was arrested and lodged in jail charged with the crime. Young Cox was soon coming out of the stable shortly before the blaze was discovered, it is said, and for this reason it is believed he had a hand in the incendiarism. Others are under surveillance, and the others think they will unearth a systematic scheme to burn the barns of certain parties in various parts of the town. In the meantime the damage costs high, as no property owner feels safe.

THE LATEST THING IN GENTLEMEN'S ATTIRE.

At a stareboard of passengers rolling from Louisville, Ky., to Kansas City met with a thrilling accident. The party consisted of Henry Bass, John J. Bush, E. Powers and L. H. Powers of Goldens, S. T. Niles of Boudoir, James H. Davis, Timmo, Beauchamp, and a minor from Kansas City—there being nine persons altogether, including the driver. As they were proceeding on a dark night over the rough mountain road, they came to a point seven miles to Cisco, Mo., where the roadway was barely wide enough for the coach to pass. Suddenly the coach slipped and tumbled over the steep precipice down into the deep ravine about forty feet below, the vehicle rolling three times and half in the descent striking against the projecting rocks in its downward course, and landing in the stream bottom up. The three gentlemen on the outside—Messrs. Bush and Davis and the driver—jumped from the coach when it began rolling down the bank, and went tumbling down the bank, and went tumbling down the cause after it, all receiving some bruises, but not being seriously injured. Strange to say, the passengers in the coach, although sustaining more or less injury, were not dragged easily hurt. One of the four horses was mortally wounded, and had to be shot to end his suffering. The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock in the morning. The driver rose to fame.

A Youthful Firebug.

Small fires have raged at Green castle Inn, to such an extent during the past two weeks that there has been great uneasiness among the people for a conflagration break out in which case, owing to the extreme dryness of everything, the loss would be terrible. Last week three or four barns were burned and this week the fire department was called out as many as three times in one day to fight the fires originating in stables. That the fires always made their first appearance in stables and about the stable place in each case, caused the officers to suspect that the blame must rest with the work of fire bugs. So they went quickly to work to locate and capture the miscreants. As a result of their labors the seven-year-old son of Daniel Cox was arrested and lodged in jail charged with the crime. Young Cox was soon coming out of the stable shortly before the blaze was discovered, it is said, and for this reason it is believed he had a hand in the incendiarism. Others are under surveillance, and the others think they will unearth a systematic scheme to burn the barns of certain parties in various parts of the town. In the meantime the damage costs high, as no property owner feels safe.

THE LATEST THING IN GENTLEMEN'S ATTIRE.

At a stareboard of passengers rolling from Louisville, Ky., to Kansas City met with a thrilling accident. The party consisted of Henry Bass, John J. Bush, E. Powers and L. H. Powers of Goldens, S. T. Niles of Boudoir, James H. Davis, Timmo, Beauchamp, and a minor from Kansas City—there being nine persons altogether, including the driver. As they were proceeding on a dark night over the rough mountain road, they came to a point seven miles to Cisco, Mo., where the roadway was barely wide enough for the coach to pass. Suddenly the coach slipped and tumbled over the steep precipice down into the deep ravine about forty feet below, the vehicle rolling three times and half in the descent striking against the projecting rocks in its downward course, and landing in the stream bottom up. The three gentlemen on the outside—Messrs. Bush and Davis and the driver—jumped from the coach when it began rolling down the bank, and went tumbling down the bank, and went tumbling down the cause after it, all receiving some bruises, but not being seriously injured. Strange to say, the passengers in the coach, although sustaining more or less injury, were not dragged easily hurt. One of the four horses was mortally wounded, and had to be shot to end his suffering. The accident occurred at about 7 o'clock in the morning. The driver rose to fame.

THE LATEST THING IN GENTLEMEN'S ATTIRE.

A DIAMOND THIEF.

Kid McCoy, the Celebrated Barber, at the Bar of Justice.

Frank Sheriff, alias Kid McCoy, alias Kid Barber, alias Frank Wilson, the perpetrator of the celebrated Pollock diamond robbery on a Chicago & Northwestern train in Harrison county, Iowa, has been arrested and turned over to the Iowa authorities. The authorities at Denver, where he was arrested, recognized the claims of the Pinkerton agency in having unswervingly pursued the search for the Pollock robber, representing the interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.

John Scott, interests of a Jeweler's Protective Union, and the Pinkertons are given first claim upon the criminal criminal. The prisoner is positively identified by Conductor Ashmore, on whose train the robbery occurred, the leaders of the gang having been identified by him.